SUBJECT: MARYLAND STATE AND LOCAL INCOME TAX TABLES

Maryland law provides that the Comptroller prepare a percentage income tax withholding method that indicates the percent of State income tax to be withheld from wages. The percentage used is relative to median local tax rates of Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City.

Withholding is a combination of the State income tax, which has rates graduated per taxable income, (see chart below) and local taxes. This combined tax appears under the heading of STATE TAX on all payroll documents, including the Employee's Earnings Statement (pay stub) that is attached to all payroll checks and deposit advices.

Beginning with calendar year 2008, the State of Maryland added a selection to filing status for tax withholding. You can choose Single, Head of Household (married or unmarried), or Married status but withhold at the Single rate on the W4/MW507 withholding form. The tax rate is the same for all categories until you reach $150,000 in yearly income for a single filer. Employees expecting to make more than $150,000 in 2011 and who can file as Married or Head of Household should ensure a proper W4-MW507 form is in place for Maryland taxes.

The county of residence, which determines the rate of the local withholding portion is the county submitted on the Employee Withholding Allowance Certificate, IRS Form W-4/Comptroller Form MW 507. The two position alphabetic code in the box "County Code" on the Employee's Earnings Statement (pay stub) is the county recorded in the individual's pay record. Employees that do not submit a withholding certificate are defaulted to the highest rate of local tax, which for the year 2011 will be 3.20%.

For employees who are not residents of Maryland the Nonresident rate (6%) is used, which includes no local tax; but does include the Special 1.25% Nonresident rate.

Two attachments accompany this memorandum, the first is the local tax rate used by the Central Payroll Bureau to compute the local portion of the combined state tax. The second attachment provides a translation of the alpha code that appears in the County code box that is printed on the pay stub.
